High Threat CQB for Patrol

Most Patrol Officers do not receive advanced entry training. On the job training is usually not sufficient, and tactics being taught or used can be improper or just plain unsafe. Students need to know the reason why they are using specific tactics during certain situations. This course prepares Law Enforcement to execute building searches in small teams of two to four Officers in ways that reduce the risk to officers and the community. Through demonstration and practical application, students will practice entry, search, and extraction techniques throughout the course while executing patrol based residential and commercial structure searches during live force on force scenarios that are practical to what Law Enforcement will be exposed to in the real world. This course can also be used to introduce students to our 16 or 24 hour High Risk Warrant Service course.

TOPICS:

- Structure Approaches
- Equipment Suggestions
- Consensual Searches
- Roles and Responsibilities of Entry and Perimeter Security Teams
- Weapon Manipulation
- Individual/Team Movement
